“Your Vote Does Count”
by Rob Clapper, ASLA

If you’ve ever doubted the headline of this article, then I offer the following for your consideration. Thanks to president-elect Rod Cameron there were two candidates (and I think this is a first) for the office of Trustee, in the just-completed chapter election. They were Tom Tavella, the current chapter president, and me (past chapter president and executive committee member and author of Bulletin and Connecticut Landscape Architecture articles). Channing Harris tabulated the ballots and immediately focused his attention on the “battle royale” for Trustee. First Tom was ahead, then I had a surge, then it was one for Tom, then one for Clapper. At the end it was Tom Tavella by…ONE vote. I must now live with the knowledge that I was one vote away from forcing a tie-breaker by the Executive Committee and with the knowledge that, in a moment of unexplained good sportsmanship, I cast my one vote for Tom Tavella!

The Handbooks are coming!

The 2004 Handbook will soon be in production. As always, the book will include an updated roster of our membership. If your contact information (address/phone/email, etc.) has recently changed, we urge you to be sure that your ASLA record is accurate by using the Member Login at www.asla.org and making the necessary changes to your account. We want to print your information accurately!

PASSINGS…We’re sorry to report the deaths of these landscape architects who did important work in Connecticut. See upcoming issues of The Connecticut Landscape Architect for more information.

The 2003 CTASLA Executive Committee retreat was at the Mayflower Inn in Washington, CT on Saturday, November 15th. For the past 15-plus years I’d gone as a member of the Exec. Comm*. This year I went as an “elder.” What difference does that make? There were a number of advantages. I did not have to do a lot of preparation. I could come later in the morning. I could interrupt with words of wisdom and… most importantly, at the luncheon I got to be first in line for dessert!

This year’s retreat was built around workshops. In the morning there was Communication and Education. Ideas, some old, some new, were thrown out and discussed, the goal being to set the agenda for 2004. At 12:15 we broke for lunch with the “Heavy Hitters” (past Executive Committee members) which included such notables as Norma Williams, Steve Wing, Keith Simpson, Richard Kent and Whitney Talcott. During lunch each “Heavy Hitter” was asked, having been inside the chapter Exec. Comm, and now, outside in the general membership, where the chapter should be going to better serve the members. Some of the ideas that came out were: a Fellows committee to review application and encourage members who qualify for Fellow status (Connecticut has relatively few Fellows for its size), Chapter programs that emphasize unique locations that one normally could not gain access to, and improvements to the website.

Lastly, mark Monday, April 26, on your calendar now. That is Olmsted’s birthday. Look for a major chapter program coordinated with activities of the Society.

* For those that missed the recent chapter Constitution/Bylaws vote, we have changed the words “Executive Board” and “National” to “Executive Committee” and “Society” to be in conformance with National (oops) the Society.
Nominations Sought for 2004 Connecticut Olmsted Award

CTASLA is now soliciting nominations for the Connecticut Olmsted Award from the general membership. The Connecticut Olmsted Award is given annually by the Chapter to a person or organization who works or resides in Connecticut and has employed the principle of stewardship of the land as the guiding force in their actions. Each Chapter member is encouraged to nominate someone or some group that they know of that has demonstrated, through their actions, their care and concern for our Connecticut environment.

The Executive Committee will act as the selection committee. They will select the recipient of the Connecticut Olmsted Award at the April Executive Committee meeting. Nominations are due by 4:00 p.m., Friday, April 9, 2004. Please fax all nominations to Chapter President Rod Cameron at (203) 775-3628 or email to rcameron_cca@snet.net. Past nominees may also be considered.

It was cold on the morning of the CTASLA 6th Annual Golf Outing at Hunter Memorial Golf Club in Meriden. I wore polypropylene underwear and a wool sweater (more suited for ice fishing) and I was still cold. The October morning chill, however, didn’t dampen the players’ enthusiasm as they milled around stamping their feet. Someone yelled out, “Where’s the beer cart?” It was 8:30 a.m.

My foursome included Chris Morhardt, his brother Kemp, my son Kristoffer, and me. Due to a “frost delay” our start time was changed, which gave us time to use the driving range. I’ve always avoided this in the past because a) I thought you had to supply your own balls, and b) it’s embarrassing to swing a club in front of your peers, totally missing the ball two times out of three. To also help pass the time, the course pro put on a putting clinic. (Your eye should be over the ball. Only move your arms. If you overshoot, your ball should stop 17 inches beyond the cup.)

We also got to tank up on coffee, juice, Danish and mini-muffins that were hot out of the oven. (I put two in my pocket to use as hand warmers.)

At 10:30, we were off, heading to the 16th tee. By the fifth hole we were warmed up and stripping off our outer clothing. Unfortunately our game never warmed up as we topped, muffed, hooked and sliced our way around the course. Energy recharge and attitude adjustment (a Snickers bar and beer) came in the form of the hospitality cart on the 18th green. After that our game… improved.

When we got through around 3:00, it was off to the clubhouse for drinks and a super buffet. Red cheeked and stomachs filled, we settled back, opened our wallets, and bought tickets for the raffle. This year, there was not the “Pie-and-a-pound” but there were gourmet food baskets, a CD music player, a DVD player, hats, jackets, golf clubs, a digital camera and two days at a golf school in Vermont.

And…how was the fishing, you ask? There was the 8-inch yellow perch in the water hazard at the 1st green, the 6-inch perch on the 10th hole water hazard and the baby large mouth bass on the 11th. All in all, a good day of catch and release.

My only complaint? Past “participation” gift bags have included bag towels, tags and an insulated coffee mug, in addition to a sleeve of ASLA balls and bag of tees. This year’s gift was a little zipper bag in which were your sleeve of ASLA balls and tees. Next year, how about some nice looking golf hats…with earflaps!

ASLA Declares April 2004 National Landscape Architecture Month

The theme will be “Design for Active Living,” highlighting ways community design affects residents’ daily activity levels and, in turn, their overall health. Studies show that access to resources such as parks, recreational facilities, bicycle paths, walking trails, and sidewalks can increase physical activity among residents, lowering obesity and improving health.

“Years ago, we all walked to school, to the store, to the park, or to a friend’s house. Today, we are often unable to walk or bike anywhere safely, because our communities are designed mainly for car travel.” said Susan L.B. Jacobson, FASLA, president of ASLA. “The change from a pedestrian to a commuter lifestyle has fueled an epidemic of obesity in the U.S., particularly among children. We want to encourage everyone to look at their communities during April and become advocates for an environment that is more exercise-friendly. As landscape architects, we can design active living components back into our communities.”

During April, many ASLA chapters will work with students from local schools to assess safe walking and biking routes between their school and home. Local landscape architects will use the National Center for Bicycling & Walking’s checklists to help children issue walkability and bikeability “report cards” on their communities. The results will be released in May.

A Legislative Act Concerning Automatic Sprinklers

Turf Products Corporation would like to advise you of recent legislation concerning the requirement of Rain Sensor Device(s) on automatic irrigation systems. Public Act No. 03-175, section 2, as enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in the Connecticut General Assembly states:

(Effective October 1, 2003) (a) Any state agency or commercial enterprise that begins installation of an automatic lawn sprinkler system on or after October 1, 2003, shall equip such sprinkler system with a rain sensor device or switch that will automatically override the irrigation cycle of such sprinkler system when adequate rainfall has occurred. (b) A municipality may, by ordinance adopted by its legislative body, require that any automatic lawn sprinkler system, the installation of which begins on or after October 1, 2003, shall be equipped with a rain sensor device or switch that will automatically override the irrigation cycle of such sprinkler system when adequate rainfall has occurred.

The complete text of Public Act No. 03-175 is available by accessing the state legislative website at www.cga.state.ct.us. Other sections of PA No. 03-175 concern water service connections and water service to school administration buildings.

Please call us at 1-800-595-4909 if you have any questions regarding rain sensors and their use or additional information as to what other water conserving products are currently available on the market today. — Ray Eurto & John Ouellette, Territory Managers for Turf Products, Inc.

2004 CTASLA Student Scholarships

The Connecticut Chapter of ASLA is pleased to announce two $2,500.00 scholarships for students entering or pursuing an education in the field of Landscape Architecture. These scholarships are funded in large part by the CTASLA Annual Golf Outing through the generous support of its players and sponsors. Please pass on the Scholarship Form to qualified students who may be interested in pursuing the scholarship. To find out more information, or to download additional application forms, please visit our web site at www.ctasla.org. You may also call (800) 878-1474 to request an application form. All scholarship application forms must be postmarked by May 1, 2004 and should be mailed to: CTASLA, 87 Willow Street, New Haven, CT 06511. Thank you for spreading the word about the 2004 CTASLA Student Scholarships!
